Chinese American Literature Since The 1850s Xiao Huang Yin:

Chinese American Literature Since the 1850s Xiao-huang Yin, 2000 This volume an introduction and guide to the field traces the origins and development of a body of literature written in English and in Chinese Gold Mountain Dreams Xiao-huang Yin, 1991 Chinese American Transnationalism Sucheng Chan, 2006 Chinese American Transnationalism considers the many ways in which Chinese living in the United States during the exclusion era maintained ties with China through a constant interchange of people and economic resources as well as political and cultural ideas This book continues the exploration of the exclusion era begun in two previous volumes Entry Denied which examines the strategies that Chinese Americans used to protest undermine and circumvent the exclusion laws and Claiming America which traces the development of Chinese American ethnic identities Taken together the three volumes underscore the complexities of the Chinese immigrant experience and the ways in which its contexts changed over the sixty one year period The Expanding Roles of Chinese Americans in U.S.-China Relations Peter Koehn, Xiao-Huang Yin, Xiao-huang Yin, 2015-02-12 This book addresses the historical and contemporary involvement of Chinese Americans from diverse walks of life in U S China relations The contributors present new evidence and fresh perspectives on familiar and unfamiliar national and transnational networks including families businesspersons community newspapers students lobbyists philanthropists and scientists and consider the likely future impact of such contacts on the most important bilateral relationship at the start of the new millennium The volume makes a multidisciplinary contribution to understanding the extensive and vital roles and promise of Chinese Americans at this critical juncture in U S China relations and to revealing the importance of migrants as actors in contemporary global politics The assessments shared by the contributors suggest that the nature and scope of the Chinese American involvement particularly in global civil society networks increasingly will determine the outcome of state to state relations between the United States and the PRC What's New about the "New" Immigration? Marilyn Halter, Marilynn S. Johnson, Katheryn P. Viens, Conrad Edick Wright, 2014-12-17 Historians commonly point to the 1965 Immigration and Nationality Act as the inception of a new chapter in the story of American immigration This wide ranging interdisciplinary volume brings together scholars from varied disciplines to consider what is genuinely new about this period Transnationalism and American Serial Fiction Patricia Okker, 2012-06-12 Transnationalism and American Serial Fiction explores the vibrant tradition of serial fiction published in U S minority periodicals Beloved by readers these serial novels helped sustain the periodicals and communities in which they circulated With essays on serial fiction published from the 1820s through the 1960s written in ten different languages English French Spanish German Swedish Italian Polish Norwegian Yiddish and Chinese this collection reflects the rich multilingual history of American literature and periodicals One of this book s central claims is that this serial fiction was produced and read within an intensely transnational context the periodicals often circulated widely the narratives themselves favored transnational plots and themes and the contents surrounding the fiction encouraged readers to identify with a community dispersed throughout the United States and often the world Thus Okker focuses on the circulation of ideas periodicals literary conventions and people across various borders focusing particularly on the ways that this fiction reflects the larger transnational realities of these minority communities

Positioning the New Elisabetta Marino, Tanfer Emin Tunc, 2010-09-13 This ground breaking edited volume includes chapters which explore the past present and future position of Chinese American authors within the framework of what Harold Bloom identifies as the Western literary canon These selections which simultaneously represent the exciting transnational turn in American literary studies not only examine whether or not Chinese American literature is inside or outside the canon but also question if there is or should be a literary canon at all Moreover they dissect the canonicity of Chinese American literature by elucidating the social political and cultural implications of inclusion in the canon Ultimately however this collection is designed as a preliminary step towards exploring the impact of Chinese American literature on the white Anglo Saxon Protestant dominated American literary world and probing the by products of both cultural fusion and cultural collision

Transpacific Articulations Chih-ming Wang, 2013-06-30 In 1854 Yung Wing who graduated with a bachelor s degree from Yale University returned to a poverty stricken China where domestic revolt and foreign invasion were shaking the Chinese empire Inspired by the U S and its liberal education Yung believed that having more Chinese students educated there was the only way to bring reform to China Since then generations of students from China and other Asian countries have embarked on this transpacific voyage in search of modernity What forces have shaped Asian student migration to the U S What impact do foreign students have on the formation of Asian America How do we grasp the meaning of this transpacific subject in and out of Asian American history and culture Transpacific Articulations explores these questions in the crossings of Asian culture and American history Beginning with the story of Yung Wing the book is organized chronologically to show the transpacific character of Asian student migration The author examines Chinese students writings in English and Chinese maintaining that so called overseas student literature represents both an imaginary passage to modernity and a transnational culture where meanings of Asian America are rearticulated through Chinese He also demonstrates that Chinese student political activities in the U S in the late 1960s and 1970s namely the Baodiao movement that protested Japan s takeover of the Diaoyutai Islands and the Taiwan independence movement have important but less examined intersections with Asian America In addition the work offers a reflection on the development of Asian American studies in Asia to suggest the continuing significance of knowledge and movement in the formation of Asian America Transpacific Articulations provides a doubly engaged perspective formed in the nexus of Asian and American histories by taking the foreign student figure seriously It will not only speak to scholars of Asian American studies Asian studies and transnational cultural studies but also to general readers who are interested in issues of modernity diaspora identity and cultural politics in China and Taiwan

Diasporic Histories Andrea Riemenschmitter, Deborah L. Madsen, 2009-08-01 Chinese migrant communities have reinvented their histories in many contexts but the process of globalization has accelerated and diversified this phenomenon Their fluid identities innovative modernities and generative talents in overcoming prejudice and multiple dislocations offer powerful examples of creative resistance to placebound traditions and nationalist histories As the velocity of exchange in global media and commerce steadily increases emergent and dynamic diasporas are increasingly influential in transnational discourses This volume engages cultural representations of the subjectivities and loyalties of Chinese migrant communities including analyses of aesthetic texts as well as theoretical approaches in cultural studies The book situates diasporic agency as an historical phenomenon with far reaching political and social implications for both home and host societies and as a major site of contemporary cultural developments By assembling a variety of regional temporal and disciplinary perspectives it interrogates current notions of the diasporic subject raising questions about respective ideological roots and cultural repositories as well as extensions and transgressions of new aesthetic vocabularies Contributors include Roland Altenburger Pheng Cheah Prasenjit Duara Kathrin Ensinger Ping kwan Leung Helen F Siu Tamara S Wagner Mary Shuk han Wong Sau ling C Wong and Nicolas Zufferey

The Buddha in the Machine R. John Williams, 2014-06-24 The writers and artists described in this book are joined by a desire to embrace Eastern aesthetics as a means of redeeming Western technoculture The assumption they all share is that at the core of modern Western culture there lies an originary and all encompassing philosophical error and that Asian art offers a way out of that awful matrix That desire this book attempts to demonstrate has informed Anglo and even Asian American debates about technology and art since the late nineteenth century and continues to skew our responses to our own technocultural environment
